High School to Lead Crusade for Freedom Drive Starting Oct. 2

The Crusade for Freedom drive will be launched in the Antioch Township school area on Tuesday, Oct. 2.

Films telling the story of the freedom bell and the purpose of the crusade will be shown in the Antioch Township High school physical education classes. Students and teachers will have an opportunity to sign the freedom scroll and to contribute to the freedom fund.

The purpose of the crusade fund is to buy radio transmitters to establish a radio-free Europe and a radio-free Asia, where the undistorted truth may be broadcast. An honor award from Washington, D. C., goes to each school which enrolls at least 90 per cent of its students.

The drive is being actively conducted in the schools of this area to enroll all students and teachers in the education program for a free world. At Antioch Township High school the Social Studies department under the direction of Mrs. Jeannette Tulumello is sponsoring it as one of the community projects. All participants are volunteer students.

Tom-Tom, Name of High School Paper Suggested By Miss Ann McMillen

"The Tom-Tom" a name suggested by Ann McMillen, has been chosen for the new Antioch Township High school newspaper to be published soon.

Miss McMillen's suggestion won first place over a number of entries. Second place went to Ralph Stokes for his suggestion "Sequit Smoke Signals," and third place to Kay Stollenwerk for "Cardinal Flash."

Because the Antioch organizations are known as the Sequits after the Indian tribe of that name, the Tom-Tom was considered appropriate. Someone punned—"as something new it hasn't been beaten."

The paper to be presented in mimeograph form is supervised by Miss Iris McKinney.

Antioch Library Will Observe Library Day With Special Displays

Acting upon a proclamation of Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson setting Oct. 4 as Library day, the Antioch Township library will observe that date by a special display in line with the theme of the American Library association, "The Heritage of the U.S.A. in Times of Crisis."

The public is invited by the librarian to visit the library on Thursday and look over the displays and get acquainted with the library's expanding resources.

Governor Stevenson set aside the day as a tribute to libraries and librarians.

The Antioch library in its comparatively new home has had opportunity to expand and provide the community with much better service.

Special Assembly at High School Friday to Honor Music Teacher

Antioch High school students will say farewell to their music teacher, Hans Von Holwede in assembly at 8:50 tomorrow morning.

Headed by music students the young people will express their high regard for their teacher who resigned to become district representative of the Hammond Electric Organ Co. at Elgin after 22 years of faithful service.

Sue Garland is in charge of the program assisted by Joan Cervinka, Joan Osmond, and Phyllis Cyt. William Poulsen will serve as master of ceremonies.

Elmo Edwards and Melvin Stillson are co-directors of the event representing the faculty.

Members of the board of education will be present and President Fred Scott will present Mr. Von Holwede a gift. The students will also have a gift for him.

The program will last during the first period of school. It will be Von Holwede's last day of teaching in the Antioch schools.

Fathers to Accompany Sons to Scout House For Meeting Tuesday

Dads will be asked to accompany their sons to the meeting of troop 92 Boy Scouts of America Tuesday evening in the meeting at 7:30 in the Scout house.

Four executives from the North Shore district will be present in explaining Scouting objectives and acquainting the fathers with their part in making the work successful.

"It takes one adult for every four or five boys in helping them get started," Clarence Olson, chairman of the Lions club scout committee said. "The scoutmaster cannot do it all at the start."

Olson asked that any man who is interested in Scout work to contact him at his home 559-W-1 for an interview.

Troop 92 will have approximately 35 members this year. With the advantage of the finest facilities in the county available, the troop should accomplish much, Olson said. He said that many villages and cities envy Antioch and its scout house.

Lions See Demonstration of Braille System by Staff of Winnetka School for Blind

Three members of the Hadley school for the Blind at Winnetka, Ill., addressed and gave examples of the use of the braille system before the Lions club at the Millburn church Monday evening.

Dorrence Nygaard director of the school; Miss Winifred Kuhn, a staff member, and Robert Horn, an official of the school and a director and treasurer of the Winnetka Lions club demonstrated the use of the braille type printing and recording.

Miss Kuhn, though blind, took down President Wilton's talk on a braille machine just as a shorthand writer would do and read the speech back to him.

Copies of the Readers Digest were placed in the hands of a few and Mrs. Kuhn read from a reproduction in braille, taking up where those reading from regularly printed copies chose to leave off.

The school teachers provide quite interesting to the 30 members of the club. Dinner was served by the women of the Millburn church.

They will attend a luncheon at the university building on Wednesday and hear a health program conducted by eight school administrators.

Lions to Get Opinions Of Farmers on Use of Roads for Auto Races

The Antioch Lions club set in motion Monday night its investigation as to the possibility of a road race by the Sports Car Racers of America next June near the village.

Robert Wilton, president of the club, said members will discuss the matter with farmers on North ave., Crowley, or Deep Lake rd. and Depot st. in the closing of the road on some Saturday and Sunday for the races.

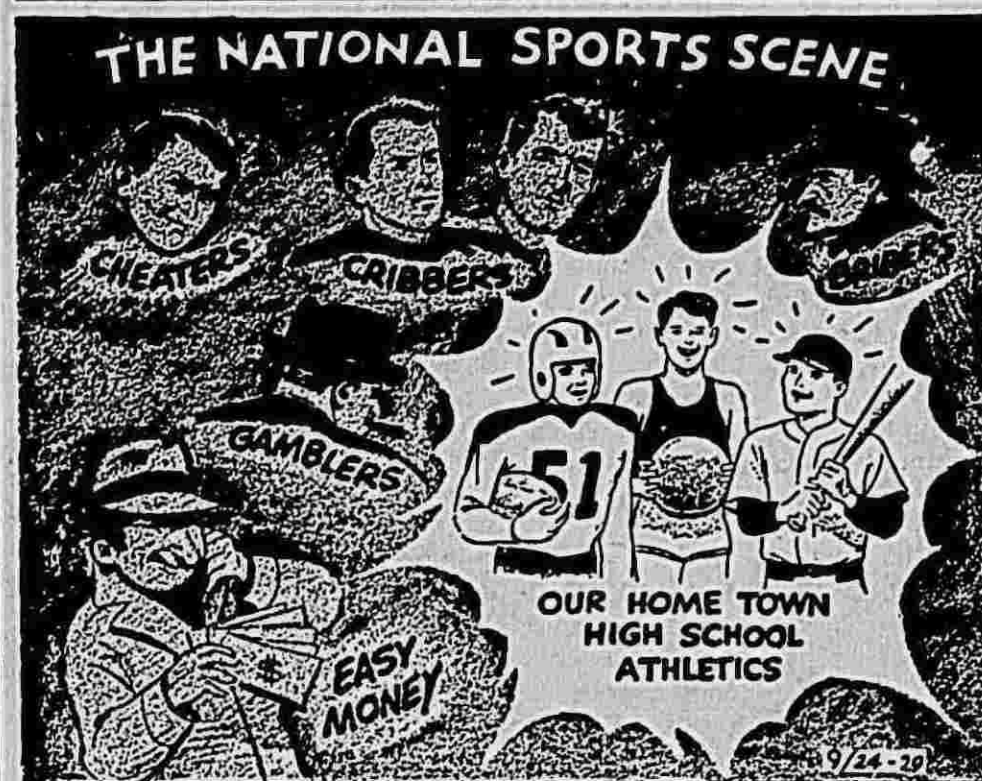

It would be necessary to build a road from Depot st. to North ave. at the Curmes addition to complete the circuit.

The race last summer at Elkhart lake, Wis. was quite profitable to persons along the highways who sold parking space to the thousands watching the race.

"We will have to call a meeting of the people along the highway to see how it appeals to them," Wilton said.

From 50 to 75 cars take part in the race over regular country roads, an event that is quite exciting and attracts big crowds.

One Bright Spot

Sophs Beat Bensenville 12-0, Varsity Loses 6-0; Play Wauconda Saturday

After dropping a close one to Bensenville in the conference opener here last Friday night 6 to 0, Antioch High will try to balance its standing at Wauconda Saturday afternoon.

"The boys will have to play better ball than they did last week if they want to make it a good game at Wauconda," said Coach Paul Kessenick who saw Wauconda play.

The return of Boak Baird to the lineup at left half is expected to bolster the team considerably.

Kessenick said that the team has been playing a good defensive game but lacks the speed and punch on the offensive. Perhaps Baird will be able to add this something. Louis Place who has been stationed at right half, and Dennis Kennedy, left guard, will serve as co-captains in Saturday's game which will start at 2 p.m.

Antioch tied Bensenville in first downs and had an edge in rushing 271 yards to 233 yet was unable to score. The Bisons scored in the last quarter on a pass. Wilke to Kerrington covering 26 yards, but was unable to convert.

The Antioch sophomores on the other hand won from the Bensenville sophomores 12 to 0, and are out to repeat the feat in the preliminary with the Wauconda sophomores starting at 12:15 p.m. Saturday.

The last seven minutes of the Antioch-Bensenville game was played in a downpour, making good football impossible. There was rain earlier in the evening.

Fox Lake Tavern Gets 60-Day Suspension for Selling Beer to Youths

After hearing evidence on the charge that DuBell Red Top tavern sold beer to two Fox Lake youths, Robert Toney and Robert Baker, Mayor Carl Erickson, sitting as liquor commissioner suspended the tavern license for 60 days starting Sept. 11.

State's Attorney Robert Nelson prosecuted the case and Atty. Frank Daily defended the tavern owner, John Wenzel.

In a surprise move at the end of the hearing Nelson asked that the license be not revoked but suspended for 60 days.

Mayor Erickson thought 30 days enough. Nelson agreed to 30 if the defendant's attorney would refrain from taking an appeal. Daily accused Nelson for the second time of blackmailing his clients and Nelson withdrew his offer of reduction and Erickson immediately invoked the 60 day suspension.

The state's attorney still may prosecute Wenzel for the sale of liquor to minors.

The tavern previously was closed for 30 days pending the hearing.

INTERMEDIATES TO PLAY LAKE VILLA IN FOOTBALL

The Intermediate Youth Fellowship of the Methodist Church in Antioch will have as their guests Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock the Intermediate Youth Fellowship of Lake Villa Community Church. A team of boys from each church will play touch football. The girls will provide the cheering section. Following the game the group will come to the Antioch church where there will be a worship service conducted by the young people. Youth in the 6th, 7th and 8th grades are cordially invited.

Build Wing to Condell Memorial Hospital and Start $250,000 Fund

Libertyville has started a campaign to raise $250,000 to enlarge the Condell Memorial hospital and is appealing to Antioch and Lake Villa township citizens to contribute.

Called upon heavily, especially by Lake Villa township, to provide care for the sick and injured, Condell has come to the place where it is not large enough to supply all the demands.

Officials are hoping to expand the hospital greatly within the next few years so that more doctors can bring their patients who want to come there.

At present the hospital is not able to take care of the patients, members of the medical staff wish to have entered.

Antioch physicians have to take their patients to Waukegan and Kenosha or Burlington hospitals. Libertyville would be somewhat closer.

A ground breaking took place at Libertyville Sunday in which a new wing to house 12 patients was started.

Garden Club Delegates Meet at State Camp in Studying Conservation

Conservation chairmen of thirty-five garden clubs of northern Illinois are meeting at the State Conservation camp on Fox lake.

A program prepared by Mrs. Frances Stephens of Barrington includes a discussion by Harold Hanson of the Illinois Natural History survey this evening on the controversial subject of the killing of doves. Illinois has an open season on the bird and is receiving much criticism from other states which have closed season on the dove as they do song birds. Motion pictures of water fowl in the arctic area will be shown.

Mrs. Mildred McAllister is in charge of the conference as president of the association.

Delegates began arriving yesterday and it is expected that 40 will be registered by the close of today.

Speakers for the state department of education will be present in discussing conservation methods. One topic will relate to the killing of insects by insecticide and its effect on wildlife.

John H. Venable Hurt In Car Crash at Rte. 21 And Grand Ave., Sat.

John H. Venable, 39, was slightly injured Saturday evening when his station wagon collided head on with a car driven by Fred Uhlig, 22, of Venetian Village at Rtes. 21 and Grand ave.

Uhlig attempted a left turn going south on Rte. 21 and turned in front of Venable going north. Neither saw the other until the accident occurred.

Venable suffered a slight concussion, skinned nose and knees. Uhlig was cut on the knee and bruised and Margaret Uhlig, his wife, was cut over the right eye, on the left hand, left knee, and right hip. Two teeth were broken.

They were taken to Condell Memorial hospital, Libertyville, to have their injuries dressed.

The general contract went to the Oliver Construction Co. of Oconomowoc, Wis. at $285.73 electrical work to Bakke Electric Co., Watford, Wis., at $20,400; and the heating contract to Kuck Co., Sheboygan, Wis., for $46,165.

An early signing of the contracts is expected to make it possible to start work on the building soon.

The enlarged school will have a capacity of 350 students. The two story addition will include three new classrooms, an auditorium-gymnasium seating 1,000 persons; combination agricultural and industrial shops, new steam heating system, and new office and council room.

Lack of Steel Delays High School Building; Heating to Start Oct. 8

Another delay in the shipment of steel has held up work on the high school building and Principal R. C. Edmundson said that it will be Nov. 1 before the shops can be in use.

Word was received from Chicago that the steel cannot be sent before Oct. 15, a month later than was originally promised.

"This will work quite a hardship on Mr. Perrigoue's four classes in shop work," said Principal Edmundson. The theoretical part has been given and now the practical applied work is necessary.

The work on the conversion of the heating system is progressing on schedule and will be completed by Oct. 5, the date promised.

Edmundson said that the heat will be available Monday, Oct. 8. Up to this time it hasn't been needed.

HAPPENINGS THAT AFFECT THE FUTURE OF EVERY INDIVIDUAL NATION AND INTERNATIONAL PROBLEMS INSEPARABLE FROM LOCAL WELFARE

Many Americans believe that the Chinese people will revolt against communism, and overthrow Mao's tough dictatorship. They believe that the ruthless purges—reliable reports tell of thousands of public executions—must have disgusted masses of the Chinese and led to widespread unrest. Unquestionably, China's dictatorship will collapse—history has shown that tyrannical government is rarely stable government. The trouble in the case of China is the incredible differences between the status of the average Chinese and his American counterpart, and the enormous gulf that exists between East and West.

In the United States, as in all advanced countries, there is a continual flow of ideas. The newspapers and magazines, books, the radio, television—all keep the people informed as to the great and minor issues and events of the day. Every conceivable school of thought makes itself heard. Debate is endless.

In China, to the contrary, there are no such mediums of communication, outside of a few big cities. The great masses of the Chinese people live in a perfect vacuum so far as the interchange of ideas and knowledge—beyond the purely village level—is concerned. It is perfectly conceivable that many Chinese have never so much as heard of the Korean war, for example, or know that Red China is engaged in it.

On top of that, three-quarters and perhaps more of the Chinese people are unable to read and write. When the communists conscript men for the army, they teach them to read a certain number of characters—sufficient to give them an understanding of simple orders and bulletins and propaganda material. They have no opportunity to hear or read anything in opposition to the Red ideology.

As a theoretical proposition, what would happen if the Chinese people had an opportunity to freely choose between communism and democracy? The answer, in all probability, is nothing! Most of the Chinese have absolutely no conception of what either word stands for, and, in the second place, they wouldn't be interested. China is the biggest poor house on earth. A primary ambition and interest of the average person is to get something to eat, a bit of fuel, some kind of rude shelter from the rain and snow and cold. His loyalty will tend toward any government which will improve his miserable living standards to even the slightest degree. Reporters who know Red China say that Mao has managed to better the lot of the coolie a trifle.

As for the purges, there is reason to believe that they meet with the approval of millions upon millions of Chinese. The victims are usually landowners and individuals of some position in the community. These people have been bitterly hated by the coolie class. The hatred has been intensified by clever and intensive Red propaganda—as has the hatred of the Chinese for the United States and England.

This does not mean that the bosses of Red China have no troubles. They have plenty, and they face inconceivably complex administrative problems. A major famine—an everpresent menace in China—might topple the government. So might a trade embargo applied by the anti-communist world. And in the long run it is not unreasonable to hope that some remnant of the Chinese spirit or philosophy of life that created one of the oldest and most cultured civilizations on earth will revolt against the godless concept of communism.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

MILBANK, S. D., HERALD ADVANCE: "On his 77th birthday August 10, Herbert Hoover found himself in the midst of a resurgence for integrity of office and independence of the American citizen. Herbert Hoover went down nineteen years ago, and with him the concept that government should serve men to find their own way. A new concept was developed that stood 180 degrees from that position: Government should rule the lives of its citizens. There are government regulations, government bureaucracy, government borrowing, government spending, deficit financing, and heavy taxing."

WEST POINT, MISS., DAILY TIMES LEADER: "If we are to meet the expenses of the defense program, we must provide employment for everybody, and we must be careful not to kill the goose that is laying the golden eggs. Business and industry must, of course, bear their respective shares of the burden, but men who draw salaries and wages and who compose by far the largest element in our free enterprise system must carry their share of the load."

MANSFIELD, OHIO, NEWS-JOURNAL: "Inflation goes merrily on its way as Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston okays the right of all workers under WSB jurisdiction to negotiate for 'escalator' clauses. . . . This fixes it up neatly for organized groups in position to deal with employers but neglects the far greater number of productive workers who act as individuals. . . . If the Federal government is to be the determining agent in such matters the only fair course would be to compel equalization of pay for all workers in various lines of employment and not give preferential treatment to those in organized groups."

SUCCESS STORY

Starch Making
Uses Big Part
Of Corn Crop

KEOKUK, Iowa — A business which was started on a bicycle 70 years ago now is one of Keokuk's—and Iowa's—big and important industries. Its growth can be identified with the growth of a town.

When J. C. Hubinger traded a dozen brooms for a recipe for quick elastic laundry starch in 1881, he unknowingly bought a business which was to fill a mill and a refinery during his lifetime, and would grow to employ more than 400 people. Today the Hubinger company uses 22,000 bushels of corn each day, and probably will grind seven million bushels this year.

Much more than laundry starch is wrung out of the corn kernels. Oil, protein, fiber and a large variety of special syrups and starches are produced from Iowa's staple crop.

Makes Livestock Feed

Some of the food starches are not only extracted, washed, purified and refined—they are pre-digested into syrups and sugars, to save your stomach the work.

It is the original starch, and the special syrups and starches, which set the pace for the factory. The livestock feeds and oil products have been added mainly to keep the cost of starch and syrup as low as possible.

Hubinger, who had been a broommaker in Keokuk when the town was little more than a village, went into the starch business in the most modest way possible. He bought corn starch mixed the laundry formula, packaged it in candy sacks and peddled it house to house on his bicycle.

By 1900, housewives were buying so much of his product that he had to start manufacturing starch himself, to guarantee a supply. He moved into an old packing plant, set up a mill, and ground about 500 bushels of corn a day, intermittently. He kept livestock in the old stockyards, and fattened them on the waste corn mash that was left after he extracted the starch.

Syrup Made from Corn

As business grew, he had more corn residue than he could feed, so he began to install equipment to dispose of it in other profitable ways. He added an expeller, to press the oil out of the corn germ (that's the part that sprouts) and he added a dryer, so he could dry and ship the livestock feed. In 1905 he built a refinery to make corn syrup out of starch.

Only a small percentage of the nation's annual corn crop goes into industry, but those corn products are so useful that the Hubinger company—and other corn processors—have been classified among the critical industries. Last year 150 million bushels of corn went into industrial channels; this year, with government encouragement, probably 150 million bushels will help keep defense production in gear.

Ogle Fair to Offer
$4,800 in Racing Purses

OREGON, Ill. — The 98th Ogle county fair, on September 1-2-3 will offer $4,800 in racing purses, fair officials have announced.

There will be harness racing every afternoon. For the first day there will be a 2:24 pace, $500, 2:24 trot, $500; second day, 2:18 pace, $700, free-for-all pace, $600, 2:20 trot, $600; and the third day, 2:18 trot, $700, free-for-all trot, $600, and 2:20 pace, $600. Entries close August 25 in all events and all horses must be qualified by 11 a.m. the day before the race.

The fair, one of the oldest and most popular in Illinois, is expected to attract its usual record crowd again this year.

Clairborne Voters Reject
Courthouse Bond Issue

MINDEN, La. — Taxpayers of Clairborne parish went to the polls recently and rejected a million-dollar courthouse bond issue. The issue failed to win approval both on property assessment and on the popular vote.

Home towns throughout the country have been rejecting bond issues in recent weeks with such regularity it is almost a national trend.

The bond election was the second on the courthouse issue in the Clairborne parish in the past few months. The first election was an informal referendum in which voting indicated whether they wanted a new courthouse on the present site, or on another site.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

That the joyous and comforting truths in the Bible are for man's immediate recognition and acceptance, will be explained in next Sunday's services in all Churches of Christ, Scientist. The title of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday, September 30, is "REALITY."

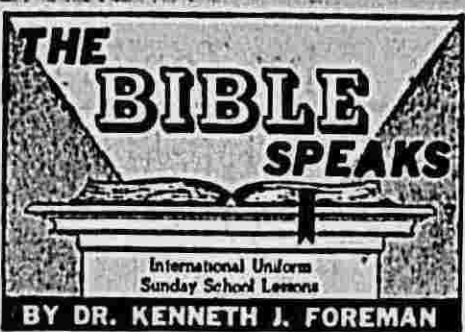

The Golden Text is from Jeremiah (61: 10) "The Lord hath brought forth our righteousness: come, and let us declare in Zion the work of the Lord our God."

Bible selections (King James Version) in the Lesson-Sermon include these passages:

"And he opened his mouth and taught them, saying: . . . Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled. . . . Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God" (Matt. 5: 2, 6, 8).

Selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, include:

"The understanding of his spiritual individuality makes man more real, more formidable in truth, and enables him to conquer sin, disease, and death. . . . Let unselfishness, goodness, mercy, justice, health, holiness, love—the kingdom of heaven—reign within us, and sin, disease and death will diminish until they finally disappear" (pp. 317, 248).

SCRIPTURE: John 4:14; Acts 16:25, Colossians 3:11.

One World

Lesson for September 2, 1951

HOW rare it is to think of persons simply as persons, without any tags or labels! We think "police-man" or "lawyer" or "soldier" or "farmer" or "Jap- anese" before we think "man." One of the commonest tags we use is the race-tag. So-and-so is a Negro or a Pole or a Mexican or a Scotch man, — at least that is the way he looks to us, even before he is Dan or Tony or Steve or whatever his name is.

We say off-hand, "All Negroes are like that" or "all Mexicans are that way" and we don't often take the trouble to see whether a particular Negro or Mexican is really "like that" or not. But from the Christian point of view, the first and most important fact about any person is that he is a person and not a thing.

A Lower Race

THE story of Jesus and the Samaritan woman shows how Jesus treated a person of a "lower" race than his. We needn't argue the question whether the Samaritans were actually beneath the Jews. In any case, the Jews treated the Samaritans like dirt.

On top of all that, the particular woman with whom Jesus talked at Jacob's well was poor and with no good reputation even among her own people. The disciples were surprised that Jesus talked with her at all. But as we read the story, it is clear that while Jesus "spoke of her condition" as the old expression is, he was dealing with her all the time as a particular human being, not merely as "a Samaritan." Evidently, to be sure, she was greatly inferior to Jesus, and admitted as much herself; yet this fact did not raise a barrier between them.

A Dominant Race

WE often talk of "race prejudice" as if it were prejudice of top-dog against under-dog. But prejudice runs in both directions. Of course all race prejudice includes a strain of contempt; but a citizen of a conquered nation may despise his conquerors, the weak may despise the strong quite as easily as the other way around.

In the Bible we have an excellent example of a Christian coming into contact with a dominant, that is, a conquering, race: the story of St. Peter and the Roman officer Cornelius.

Peter at first did not want to have anything to do with Cornelius. God had to shake him into it, so to speak. But once Peter saw the point, he saw it plainly: God made no difference between Cornelius and Peter's own people, the Jews. It was not for Peter to call any man, even an officer of the foreign army that occupied his little nation and held the Jews severely down, common or unclean.

Which is harder: for a Jew to treat a Samaritan like a human being, or to treat a Roman the same way? Which is harder, for a white man to treat a Negro like a human being, or for a Negro to treat a white man like one? It may be hard either way, but it is Christian.

"In Christ There Is No East or West"

A N old Scotch elder tells this story. "My church had invited the youth fellowship of all the denominations in the state to meet in our church, and the officers of our church were to serve the communion on the last afternoon. It had never occurred to me that some of the delegates would be Negroes, but when I stood up to pass the bread and wine, there sat some Negro young people right beside the white ones.

For a minute I thought I couldn't do it. In forty years as an elder in the church, I had never passed the communion plate to any but white persons. But then I thought, after all I am not passing the bread and wine to Negroes and white people, but only to Christians. So I went ahead with it and I never felt such a blessing as I had that afternoon."

The elder had discovered that what Paul wrote is true: In the "new creature" in Christ there is neither Greek nor Jew, slave nor free man; that in Christ's presence the stone walls that divide the human race melt like snow.

Iowa Village Finds Hoover's Birth Place Is Great Attraction

WEST BRANCH, Iowa — The small town of West Branch has one great asset and is making the most of it. It is the birthplace of Herbert Clarke Hoover, only former president of the United States born west of the Mississippi river. By telling the fact to the nation it attracts about 25,000 visitors annually.

Now one of our nation's elder statesmen, Hoover was born in a humble cottage just one block south of the main business district of West Branch, a friendly town of 764 population. Located on approximately 25 acres of gently rolling Iowa prairie, the Hoover birthplace has been landscaped and beautified since it was restored in 1938. The cottage itself stands in a wooded corner of the tract, and is maintained by a full-time caretaker.

In the park area, a small stream flows by the birthplace site, and the Egyptian goddess Isis, a gift of Belgian school children to Mr. Hoover, sits in a small grove, of evergreens.

There are tables and a fireplace for picnickers, and fresh water is available. Maintained by the Herbert Hoover birthplace society, the park is free to the public. No commercial concessions are allowed to operate.

West Branch is located in the heart of an area richly endowed with American historical and religious tradition. John Brown, on his way to his final tragedy at Harper's Ferry, paused near West Branch to recruit men in the winter of 1857-58. His headquarters, on a farm northeast of town, is marked. Two miles east of West Branch is Scattergood school, a Friends boarding school that served as a refugee hostel during World War II.

West Branch citizens tell visitors not to miss the Cedar Valley quarries—a thriving business at the turn of the century, but now abandoned and filled with water. Highly scenic, the limestone quarries are a favorite picnic spot. They are nine miles northeast of West Branch.

The small community is on state highway 1, which is hard-surfaced east to a connection with highway 30, and west to highway 6 at Iowa City, home of the University of Iowa.

The town is served by the Rock Island railroad, and offers excellent restaurants and cafes.

Fire Destroys Business District of Little Town

PALMYRA, Ill.—The town of Palmyra, population 600, was practically without a business section after a recent fire. Eleven buildings in the business district were destroyed and two others were damaged.

Reports from the community said the blaze started in a trash heap and spread to adjoining buildings.

Mayor Clyde Stevenson said the community, 35 miles southwest of Springfield, was poorly equipped to fight fire. The town has no water system and firemen had to do the best they could with well water and water tanked to the town from nearby communities.

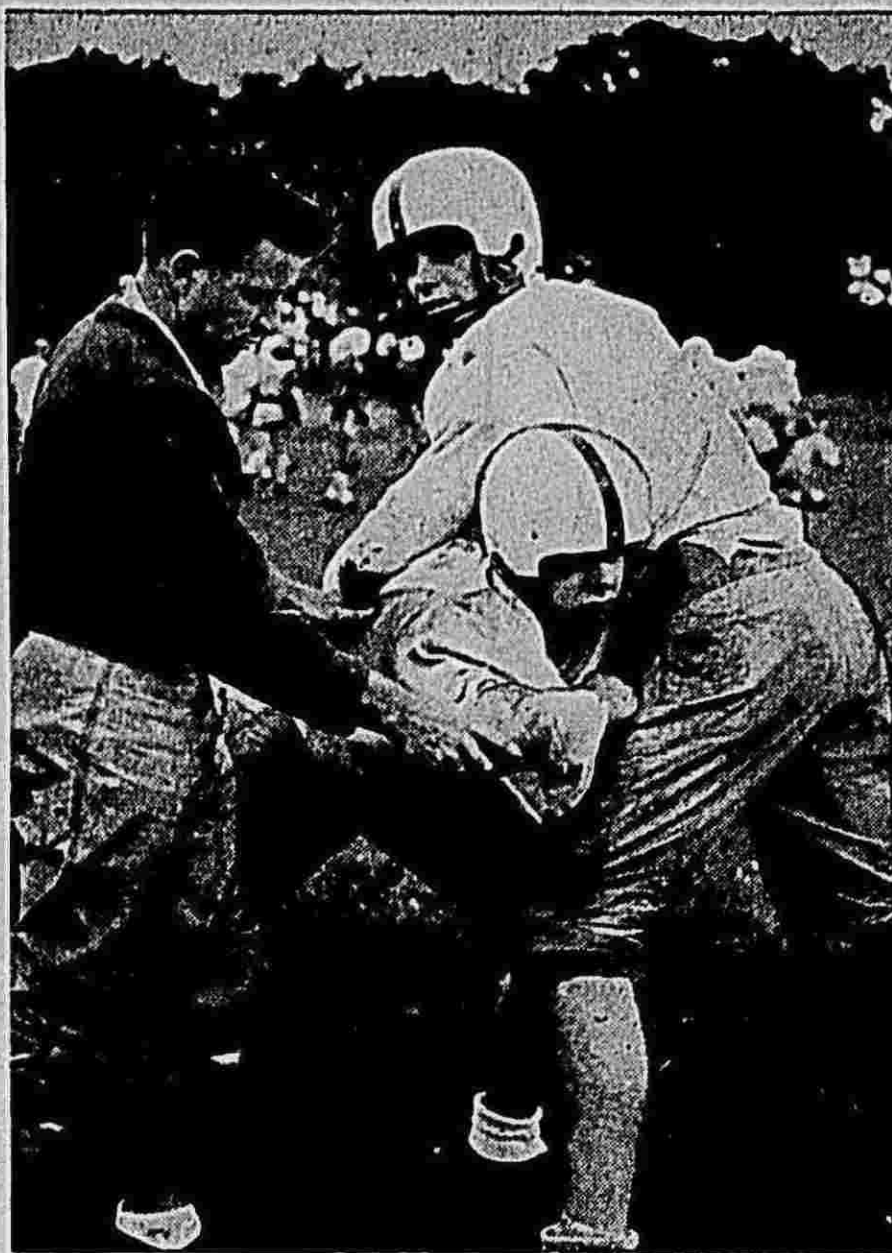

It took more than three hours to subdue the blaze. The mayor thought the loss "must run close to a million dollars."

200 Youths Attend Boys' State in Small Town

MILLERSBURG, Ky.—More than 200 boys from all parts of Kentucky gathered at Millersburg recently for the annual Bluegrass Boys State, sponsored by American Legion posts. The week-long meeting was held at Millersburg Military Institute.

The purpose of Boys State is to train youth in the fundamentals of good citizenship and governmental functions. The session was a preliminary to the annual meeting in Washington July 2-26 of Boys Nation, which carries on the program at the national government level.

The boys conducted their own elections to select city, county and state officers, and familiarize themselves with the duties and responsibilities of those offices by actually performing them.

Coach Paul Kessenich is shown explaining to Dennis Kennedy, left guard on the Antioch Township High school football team how he should block Bob Lukeman, end, Lukeman is one of the outstanding Sequoits and Kennedy has been chosen co-captain for the game this week.

Edward E. Ruffolo Will Replace Hans VonHolwede at H. S.

Edward E. Ruffolo, Kenosha, will take up his duties as director of music at the Antioch township high school, this week, replacing Hans VonHolwede, who has resigned to take a position with the Hammond Electric Organ Company.

Ruffolo comes to Antioch well qualified, having graduated "cum laude" from the University of Wisconsin, and later attaining a Masters degree from Northwestern University. He has spent the past two years in the teaching profession at Springfield, Illinois where he was a member of the faculty at Springfield Junior College, as well as director of the choir at Springfield high school and concert master of the Springfield Symphony. He comes from a musical family, one of his sisters is a staff singer at WGN, Chicago, and a brother, Anthony, is well-known in music circles in Lake and Kenosha counties. He has taken up his duties here this week.

Mrs. Thomas Moorman, Lake Villa has been engaged to replace Mrs. William Fearens as secretary and clerk in the high school office, she also began her new duties this week.

New Substitute Teacher

Mrs. Fred Strahan of Wadsworth will take the place of Mrs. Don Martin next week in teaching the class of Mrs. Richard Whitacre at the Antioch grade school. Because of household duties Mrs. Martin couldn't continue beyond the month for which she was hired, and Mrs. Whitacre while up and around at her home doesn't feel quite strong enough to resume teaching.

Charles Anderson Ill

Charles Anderson, maintenance man at the Antioch Grade school has been ill and off duty from his work since the first week of school suffering from arthritis of the knee.

Art of Showmanship

Minnesota Town Battles Over Barroom Windows

SHAKOPEE, Minn.—Barroom window shades turned out to be the feature attraction at a recent meeting of Shakopee's council.

The feature battle of the evening was fought over ordinance 104, regulating windows, doors, shades and blinds of on-sale liquor and beer places.

The ordinance, designed to tighten up enforcement of the beer and liquor laws, was passed on a 5 to 2 vote. In passing, it raised serious question over the legality of many of the community's places to continue to hold licenses.

As finally passed, the ordinance provides that "all exterior windows, doors and openings must be so constructed as to provide a clear and unobstructed view of the interior from the street at all times."

The net results now raises a serious doubt that many, if any, of the town's bars can meet the requirements of the ordinance. If unable to meet the ordinance, an establishment can be fined $250 on the first offense and revocation of license on a second.

Small Kentucky Towns Attract New Industries

FRANKFORT, Ky.—The agricultural and industrial development board of Kentucky announced recently nearly $1,000,000,000 worth of new industry has moved into the state or made commitments to move in since January 1, much of it into small communities.

Largest of the new projects are the $500,000,000 atomic energy plant near Paducah and the $300,000,000 General Electric plant at Louisville. But 13 other industries, ranging in plant values from $75,000 to $19,000,000 have moved into smaller communities since the first of the year.

Industrial expansion in Kentucky is not completely due to the defense-production boom, board members reported, because the new plants plan to turn out products for peace-time when war orders slacken.

Finish Is Vital

Whether it's guns or communications equipment, food containers or helmets, the finish is vital. In the case of helmets, for instance, their finish must be able to withstand extremes of abuse: weather, abrasion, salt water—even frequent use as a cooking utensil! In texture and color, the finish must blend with the ground and must be of extremely low reflectivity.

SHORT STORY

Secrets Are Bad

By Richard H. Wilkinson

NO ONE caught on to my secret but Sheila. Sheila was smart. Pretty, too. She had smoky gray eyes and titian hair and pure white skin.

We met at a winter sports house-party up in New Hampshire, and the next Monday, back in Boston. I took her to lunch. "I've some friends I'd like to have you meet," I said. "They have an apartment out on the Fenway. Suppose we run out tonight?" She looked at me with a sudden flash of her smoky eyes, and I said quickly: "Sounds like a stuffy evening, I suppose. It won't be. Bette and Gill are O.K. You'll like them."

"I'd love to go," she said. And so that night we called on Bette and Gill.

On the way home Sheila said she'd had a grand time, which is why I've always marveled at Bette and Gill, because we'd done practically nothing.

"I like them," Sheila said. "They're married and they seem happy."

"They are happy. They've been married six years and they're happier than when they started. I've known 'em both since high school."

Well, during the six months that followed I saw a lot of Sheila, and together we saw a lot of Gill and Bette. One night I went up there without her, and you'd think those two had been waiting for an opportunity to get me alone.

"Say, listen," Gill said, "you're getting old. I mean, here we've been married six years and you're not even in love."

"How would you know about that?" I grinned at him.

"I knew it!" Bette cried delightedly. "It's Sheila! He's in love with Sheila! Oh, Jim, we think that's grand! She'll make you a wonderful wife!"

"Sheila's all right. Good company. So are the dozen other girls I've been bringing up here."

Gill shrugged. "O.K., Jim. We've been hoping you'd fall for one of them, because you're missing some thing—not being married."

TWO nights after that I saw Sheila. We went to an in-town hotel to dinner and dance. Around 10 o'clock I suggested we leave and run out to Gill's and Bette's. But Sheila shook her head, and I looked at her in some surprise.

"They're nice people," she said. "I like them, but I'm a little tired of being an excuse."

"Excuse?"

"I've heard about the other girls. They were all excuses, but I'll bet they didn't know it."

"Now, wait a minute," I said. "What is this?"

"Call it a game, if you like." She looked at me steadily. "Jim, you'd better give up. Gill happens to love

"I knew it," Bette cried delightedly. "It's Sheila! He's in love with Sheila!"

his wife and I have an idea he'll keep on loving her."

"I flushed angrily. "Of course he will. Who says he won't?"

"Nobody. But you hope he won't."

"I hope what? What the devil are you talking about?"

She sighed. "Oh, Jim, stop pretending. You're in love with Bette. You've been in love with her for so many years you've lost count. You kept bringing pretty girls up there, hoping he'd fall for one of them, hoping she'd break up their match. Then you'd have a chance with Bette."

"Stop!" I yelled. "You're crazy!"

"No I'm not. I'm quite sane. What kills me is that neither Gill nor Bette have caught on."

She stopped and bit her lip. "Well, it's none of my affair, but I'll tell you this, Jim: Those two are about the only inspiring people I've ever known. And I'm all for letting them stay that way. From now on, count me out."

I shrugged. "O.K. You're out. There are two dozen others out with you. But you're the first who's guessed the reason." I sighed. "I guess I'd better quit. Gill and Bette think if I married you I'd be getting a prize. I'm beginning to agree with them. Will you marry me?"

"No," said Sheila.

Which is what a chap gets for having a secret like mine.

LAKE VILLA

Mrs. Lulu Nelson is spending the week with relatives at Solon Mills. Mr. and Mrs. George Helm enjoyed an auto trip through Wisconsin and into Minnesota last week while Mrs. Helm was enjoying a vacation from her duties as hostess at Great Lakes Naval Station.

The Royal Neighbor Officer's Club held a business meeting with Mrs. Paul Avery Sr. last Friday afternoon to discuss plans for the fall season.

A number of ladies from the W. S. C. S. attended a group meeting at Lake Bluff Orphanage last Friday and contributed to the 'Country Store' sale for the benefit of the orphanage. The local group will also be represented at a W. S. C. S. meeting in Evanston on Friday this week.

Racing against time and a deteriorating organ, the congregation of the Community Methodist church here, reached their goal of paying for a new Hammond organ, in less than a week of effort. The climax of what seemed a losing battle at first came in the Sunday morning service. After prayer and meditation, the pastor announced a gift of $500 from Mr. E. J. Lehman with the condition that the congregation would raise the remaining $2000 in cash, not going into debt. So tremendous was the response that the entire amount was subscribed in short order. The new organ, a Hammond church model complete with revibrator will be purchased from, and with the help of Mr. Von Holwede, new Hammond agent of Antioch. The organ will be dedicated early in October.

It was agreed that the present organ, a Gulbransen Magnetone would be played in the parsonage for family and adult Sunday School use. The Gulbransen organ was a memorial to Mr. Lehman's sister given about 10 years ago.

The Intermediate Youth Fellowship under the leadership of the pastor, went to Chicago Saturday morning to visit the museum of Arts and Sciences in the morning, and to attend the White Sox-St. Louis baseball game in the afternoon.

Attendance has been on the increase in the adult department of the Sunday School and prospects are rosy for a great winter season. The class it is particularly popular

Jet Base Iks Village

NEWINGTON, N. H. — The little town of Newington, founded in 1921, doesn't want to change—at least the way congress has planned to change it.

The village protested to congress, wanting to know why its historic streets have to be wiped out to make way for a $40,000,000 jet bomber base when the town fathers say there is plenty of idle lands only a minute away—as a jet plane flies.

Ralph Loomis, town moderator and chairman of a committee elected by the 400 residents to oppose establishment of a 6,000 acre jet base, charged that it was not defense needs but "political opportunism" that threatened Newington with oblivion.

Newington folks, he said, feel that the big base would bring with it "disastrous and near insoluble civic, social and economic problems."

Blacksmith Shop Is Tourist Mecca; Brings Fame to a Small Town

BURNSVILLE, N. C.—Daniel Boone VI has brought a measure of fame to his little home town of 1,000 people. But this Daniel Boone isn't blazing new trails or killing Indians. He's a blacksmith.

For those who like lacy grill work, he's just about tops.

Folks of the small town in the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains say he could forge a perfect horseshoe at the age of 12, but he preferred to sketch intricate designs and produce ornamental iron instead of horseshoes.

His father, also a blacksmith, didn't know what to make of this artistic ironware, but he decided it was all right when tourists began buying young Daniel's andirons, grills, stair railings, name plates and mail boxes.

Daniel Boone VI, now approaching 50, really made a name for himself and his small town in the wrought-iron business back in 1939 when the restorers of colonial Williamsburg searched the hills for a craftsman who could turn out authentic colonial hardware. Each piece that he carefully fashioned for the restoration project bears the legend, "Wrought by Daniel Boone."

Like other manufacturers, Boone went in for war work during World War II. Part of his job was to repair machinery for the local mining industry, but it was mostly chance that caused him to go in for his major war project—turning out combat knives for soldiers.

He had two sons in service, and he made knives for them. They were of the finest steel with deer-horn handles, hand-forged and hollow ground—sharp enough to shave with. An officer saw one of the knives and wanted one. Orders rolled in until he had manufactured nearly 1,000 knives—at $10 each.

Now, in a manner of speaking, Boone is converting swords into plowshares. Nearly 100 veterans are training at the Daniel Boone Forge, learning how to be blacksmiths under the GI bill.

Small Yankee Town Asks King to Confirm Birth

BETHLEHEM, N.H.—The small community of Bethlehem appealed to King George VI of England recently to confirm its birth 177 years ago.

The community of 1000, in a letter to Buckingham palace, pleaded that it couldn't find its birth certificate and asked the King to help it out.

The letter, signed by the selectmen and town clerk, was made public in London. A spokesman at Buckingham palace said the answer, if any, would go directly to the town.

The plea said researchers had established that the town, originally known as Lloyd's Hill had been granted a charter by colonial Gov. John Wentworth in 1774.

The New Englanders confessed, however, that the charter never had been received. Their story was that the original copy had been entrusted to a man who was lost at sea.

Weather Balloon Causes Flying Saucer Rumors

GRANTSBURG, Wis.—Nearly all of Grantsburg's population of 900, and many people in nearby communities, spent hours recently gawking at a strange object in the sky.

The silver disk seen moving lazily toward the east was to many of them the flying saucer given so much publicity several months ago. But to those who knew, the object was a weather balloon sent up by the University of Minnesota to check on conditions in the upper atmosphere. The gas filled bag measured 60x200 feet and carried instruments which were parachuted to earth.

Ordinarily conditions would make it impossible to see the balloon at great heights. The air was clear, however, and the angle of the sun to balloon, to Grantsburg and nearby areas, was just right for a ring-side seat to see one of the famous "flying saucers."

Major Roads Deficient

Half of the major road and street mileage of Ohio was found to be deficient and in need of improvements before today's traffic volumes can be accommodated and adequate service for the future provided. Ohio Highway Study Committee, who made the survey, said the greatest percentage of deficient mileage was on the major rural and urban State Highway routes—the roads and streets that carry the heaviest traffic loads.

Busy Plant Men

To boost the total number of telephones, Bell and Independent, in the U.S. by 15 million during the last five years, telephone plant men have had to connect about 40 million instruments and disconnect about 25 million.

Word Background

"Fillbuster" did not always apply to talk marathons by legislators. According to editors of the World Book, the word comes from the Dutch and originally meant "freebooter." It was a name applied to the buccaneer or pirate of the 1600's. Later, the term came to mean members of privately hired and organized expeditions which promoted rebellion in countries other than their own.

TIRED OF DIGGING HOLES FOR FENCE POSTS?

Here's an easy way to get out of that work . . . to stop spending all that money. For fence repairs, make replacements with Koppers Pressure-Creosoted Posts — the posts that last for 30 years! Soon, you'll have a 100% pressure-creosoted post fence. Naturally, for new fencing, it pays to set only Koppers Posts, and forget about making replacements.

Koppers Posts, pressure-treated with creosote, are protected against termites and decay. They keep original size and strength at ground line; therefore, smaller treated posts can replace larger untreated posts. There are many other advantages. See us for fence posts.

The purchase of U. S. Defense Bonds is a method whereby you can make your dollars work for America, just as they work for you. Our country must be strong economically. It should be apparent to everyone that defense is everybody's job. Your part is to buy Defense Bonds. Small BusinessHome Towners Expand Plant

THOMSON, Ga.—Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Farr have expanded their small town business into big business with the installation of a freezer plant on their small farm capable of storing 30,000 pounds of dressed poultry at a time. They also installed a modern dressing room that has a capacity of 1,000 chickens per day.

This progress grew out of a small flock of chickens and turkeys when they began their business in 1945. At present they have 3,000 regular broiler turkeys on hand and 2,000 laying hens.

The new freezer plant makes it possible for them to sell frozen turkeys, fryers, broilers and hens the year 'round.

In an effort to make the business pay off in the face of an ever-present narrow margin of profit, the Farris grow as much feed as possible on their farm, including oats, rye, grass, clover and lespedeza.

Small Town Solves Problem of Surplus Farm Production

WASHINGTON, Ga.—What a small town can do about its surplus of farm products has been proved in this small farming center.

For the first time in history milk produced in Georgia has been put into milk cans. This unusual event came about when many grade A distributors found themselves with more milk on hand than was required by the state's consumers, so Pet Milk at Washington purchased it, according to Guy Koger, manager of the plant.

Milk has been flowing into the Washington plant from Wilkes county and adjoining counties at the rate of several thousand pounds daily, Mr. Koger said.

He said the milk purchased was made into whole condensed milk in Washington and then shipped to Greenville, Tenn., where it was put in Pet milk cans.

Pet has notified distributors throughout Georgia that this plant is in a position to handle considerably more milk and was glad to purchase the surplus milk. This means that both small and large milk producers can be assured of a year 'round market for their milk.

The Pet company has taken several progressive steps to help the farmers produce more milk of higher quality. It also offers them information concerning better pastures and better herds. This advice has been given by experienced and well-trained Pet field men who are available to serve any farmer in the Pet milk area.

New York Lets Contract For Logging Operations

SALEM CENTER, N. Y.—Lumbering operations began recently near here in the New York watershed. Enough timber is being removed to build 200 houses, fence ten miles of highway and keep a dozen country weeklies supplied with newsprint for a year.

Timber being removed from the area consists of thousands of pine, spruce and hardwood trees uprooted and damaged in the great storm that hit New York state last November.

One contract let by New York city calls for the removal of 160,000 board feet of saw logs, 3,000 fence posts and 180 cords of pulp wood.

The contracts call for removal of all damaged trees whether wanted or not. Tree trimmings will be left in the forests. Mosquitoes, heat, snakes and poison ivy have somewhat slowed up logging operations, it was reported.

Contracts on five other areas will be let by New York city in the near future. They contain more than 1,000,000 board feet of saw logs, thousands of posts and considerable amount of pulpwood.

Small Kentucky Town Is Center of Coal Field

PIKEVILLE, Ky.—The town of Pikeville, population 4,500, in the eastern part of Kentucky, sits in the middle of 4 billion tons of known reserves of coking coal, of which nearly two billion tons are considered recoverable under present mining practices, the United States bureau of mines reports.

The report is a part of the bureau's survey to evaluate the nation's reserves of coal suitable for making metallurgical coke. It is the first of its type completed for a Kentucky county.

Pike county coal at least 14 inches thick was covered in the survey, but only those beds 28 inches or thicker are included in the "recoverable" category.

The bureau's survey places known Pike county reserves in beds 14 or more inches thick at approximately 3,916,000,000 tons. Of this total, 3,800,000,000 tons are in beds at least 28 inches thick. Since the average recovery in the United States is about 55 per cent, the known minable reserves of coking coal in the county have been placed at 1,757,000,000 tons.

HOLES IN HIS POCKETS!To the American People...

Probably never before has there been so much at stake in the preservation of the freedom which we have enjoyed since the birth of our republic. All of us that possibly can do so should participate in its defense and this we can do by regularly purchasing Defense Bonds, thereby maintaining a strong economy essential to our free way of life.

Faithfully yours,

CHOLERA CAN WIPE OUT ENTIRE HERD

Nothing can put a farmer out of the swine business faster than an outbreak of hog cholera.

So deadly is the virus that causes the disease, that an amount only large enough to cover the head of a pin can spread the disease to thousands of hogs.

In the face of such a fearful antagonist, what can the farmer do to protect his pigs? The only reliable protection is vaccination of pigs at about weaning age.

When this is done properly, by someone who fully understands the precautions that must be followed to insure success, there is very little chance of a cholera outbreak, even though the animals are later exposed to the disease.

Done improperly, vaccination may set off a disastrous reaction, nearly as bad as the disease itself. Veterinarians say farmers themselves can do a lot to help insure successful vaccination, because pigs must be healthy to obtain the best results. High on the list is good nutrition. Pigs fed a well balanced ration naturally resist disease better.

Proper barnyard sanitation also pays off. Kept in reasonably clean surroundings, pigs are protected against worms and other internal parasites. The parasite-weakened pig is a poor vaccination risk.

Housing should also come in for attention. Pigs stand a better chance of building disease resistance if they are well housed without draughts and dampness.

Thus, veterinarians advise that well fed, well housed, and well cared for pigs, when vaccinated properly against hog cholera, stand little danger of contracting this costly disease.

Cooking Meats

Unless plenty of time and moderately low heat is allowed for frozen meat, the outside of the piece may be overdone while the inside is still frozen. This may happen not only to large pieces like roasts but even to steaks which are broiled at high heat. Remember that thawed meat needs considerably longer time to cook and always a moderately low temperature so that the meat can thaw in the first part of the cooking and cook to the desired tenderness during the last part.

Stratford Tradition

There have been Shakespearean festivals in Stratford on Avon since 1769, when the actor David Garrick sponsored a jubilee complete with fireworks and dancing.

The Hard Years

The second World War came to a close in Europe on May 7, 1945—five years, eight months and six days after the Nazis started their invasions.

Patented Block

It seems that even the common cement building-block can be improved and patented, according to National Patent Council. Patent No. 2,540,349 has been issued to Robert S. Reed, Three Rivers, Mich., for an improved building-block. The improvement claim is that the block is bisected lengthwise, a fibrous insulating material separates the two halves, and web reinforcement holds the halves together.

Clogged Drain Blaster

Handling Devices Company, Inc., Boston, Mass., has developed a device called "Drain Gun" which with the help of carbon dioxide cartridges shoots a blast of gas and air to unclog household drains. When punctured, the cartridge builds up pressure inside the gun to 30 pounds, then the gun is placed over the drain and the air pressure released with a spring-operated valve to blow out the clogged wastes.
